As noted in the Decree of the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan "On measures to further improve the institution of mahallas"¹, for the first time in the history of our national statehood, towns, villages, auls and mahallas were established as territorial units of self-government in Article 105 of the Constitution. More than a hundred normative and legal documents reflect the participation of citizens' self-government bodies in certain spheres of public life.

At present, about 10,000 citizens' assemblies in the country have successfully fulfilled more than 30 socio-economic tasks that previously belonged to local authorities, and the program "Prosperous Village" is being successfully implemented. It is noteworthy that the analysis of the implementation of the program "Prosperous Village" and the current tasks of the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan Sh.M. A video conference chaired by Mirziyoyev on April 26, 2018 on issues related to the effective organization of the implementation of the "Prosperous Village" program and the most important tasks in this regard was of great importance².

This year, 127,000 houses will be repaired and beautified, 1,900 km of drinking water networks, 850 social and 2,400 market infrastructure facilities will be built and overhauled, about 2,000 km of electricity and 263 km of gas networks, and 440 km of roads will be overhauled. It is planned to purchase 470 modern buses, build more than 330 bus stops and open new routes. It was noted that 3 trillion 447 billion soums will be used for these purposes. It is known that on the basis of in-depth analysis, taking into account the specific features and capabilities, needs and requirements of each region, important programs for the integrated development of districts and cities in 2017-2021 have been developed in each neighborhood. Full implementation of these programs on the ground will ensure the overall prosperity and well-being of neighborhoods³.

At the same time, citizens' self-government bodies must exercise consistent public control over the behavior of young people in the family, including education in preschools, schools, secondary special vocational education institutions. To this end, community activists are required to work closely with parents, preschool educators, teachers and educators, and to actively participate in the upbringing of a harmoniously developed generation by preventing environmental problems and protecting the environment in the community.

To do this, of course, it is necessary to further improve the program "Family-neighborhood-educational institution", to make the work of "Parent Universities" a real life force, to emphasize their priority in educating young people, as well as to ensure youth employment. In order to prevent violations of ecology and environmental protection in the community, it is necessary to take measures to increase the efficiency and responsibility of prevention inspectors, to create decent service and living conditions for them. Recognizing the invaluable contribution of mahallas to the development of spiritual and moral values in our society, first of all, the values of humanity, tolerance, mutual understanding and harmony, environmental legal education of a harmoniously developed generation, ensuring social and spiritual stability, strengthening interethnic harmony and harmony. it is worth noting that raising the work in this area to new heights is a requirement of the times. In the current context of escalating environmental problems, our priority should be to address them and ensure environmental safety, environmental education and training in the family and community, as well as its continuity. This will serve to preserve and preserve the existing natural resources of our country for future generations, to preserve, respect and rationally use and protect them.

Conducting environmental and legal education and upbringing in the family helps young people to love nature, the environment and its resources, to form the first environmental legal awareness, thinking and understanding of its protection and rational use. In the words of President Sh.M.Mirziyoev, "a new system has been created that provides a comprehensive study of the family, analysis, monitoring and evaluation of the current situation, improving the welfare of the family through research." Of course, we still have a lot of work to do to improve the content, quality and effectiveness of the measures outlined in this regard. "Programs such as" Obod Qishloq "and" Obod Mahalla ", "Yoshlar-Kelajakgi ", "Every Family-Entrepreneur "are aimed at the same goals⁴. 1. In this regard, the preparation and free distribution of legal manuals on important issues of daily life, aimed at increasing legal literacy in the family, teaching basic legal knowledge and knowledge of legal and moral rules for children and simple and everyday rules, as well as patriotism, laws It is very important that special attention is paid to the creation of various animated films that promote respect, teaching the history and national values of the Uzbek people⁵. 2. Carrying out ecological and legal education and upbringing in preschool educational institutions testifies to the fact that young children have a well-formed ecological legal consciousness and thinking in relation to the family. At this age, our children can understand that the consequences of their actions are focused on good and evil⁶. Therefore, educators should help children of this age to show good qualities towards mother nature and the environment, to show them the riches of nature and to protect them through simple books and pictures. Also, to create a new generation of legal textbooks and manuals. At the same time, it is expedient to take measures to prepare textbooks for primary school students on visual demonstration of legal knowledge, textbooks and manuals on legal sciences for educational institutions. After all, this process is a continuation of the positive psychological and pedagogical situation in the family and helps to strengthen the environmental and legal education and upbringing in the family.

Today, there are 7,104 preschool educational institutions in the country. Over the past two years, 2,211 new kindergartens have been established, with an additional 243,000 children enrolled. In other words, the coverage of preschool children in preschool education in our country has increased by 12% over the past year and a half and amounted to 38%⁷.
